

Business Process Analysis

Last Updated Monday, 11 August 2008

Business process automation, or BPA, is the process a business uses to contain costs. It consists of integrating applications, cutting labor wherever possible, and using software applications throughout the organization.

Business Intelligence (BI):

- Analytics
- Reporting
- Business Portals